shall be exhibited to them, and so upon occasion readily assist the aforesaid Franck, both in the Execution of these particulars, and of other Concessions mentioned in the aforesaid Priviledges, that so His Electoral Highness's Will, tending to the Good and Maintenance of many poor Orphans, and other poor People, be thus effectually put in Execution, that their be no occasion left to make any farther application to His Electoral Highness on that behalf. Orangebourgh Sept. 2d. 1699.

A Letter of Exemption granted to the Hospital.

FREDERICK III. ELECTOR &c.

WHereas August Herman Franck Professor of our University at Hall, hath most humbly represented to US, that besides some poor Children hitherto trained up in his House, he hath also set up four Tables for the Benefit of poor Scholars, whose Maintenance under his Management, depends upon the charitable Contribution of some well-inclin'd Persons: And whereas he therefore doth request, that in providing for the aforesaid Poor he may be exempted from such Taxes as are laid on Provision and other necessities, as the inclosed Paper will inform you at large: WE thereupon, readily inclined rather to promote than hinder the good intention of the Petitioner in that respect, do command you hereby, that after the receiving of these Presents you permit the said Petitioner, to Brew, Grind, slay Beasts and buy in Provisions in such quantities as shall be necessary for maintaining the aforesaid Poor Students and Children, without paying the usual Taxes; yet that you take care withal, that under pretence of buying Provision for the Hospital, no manner of irregularity be committed, which might tend to the prejudice of His Electoral Highness. If it be practicable, you may draw up a Computation for the Petitioner, suitable to the number of the Poor that are to be maintained there, and supply him with necessities accordingly. And we expect that you, in duty to these presents send back to us with expedition a particular account of your proceedings in this Affair. Cologne upon Spree, October the second, 1697.

For Our Counsellor and Commissary of the Taxes, Tenzel.
